Harrison Township Budget

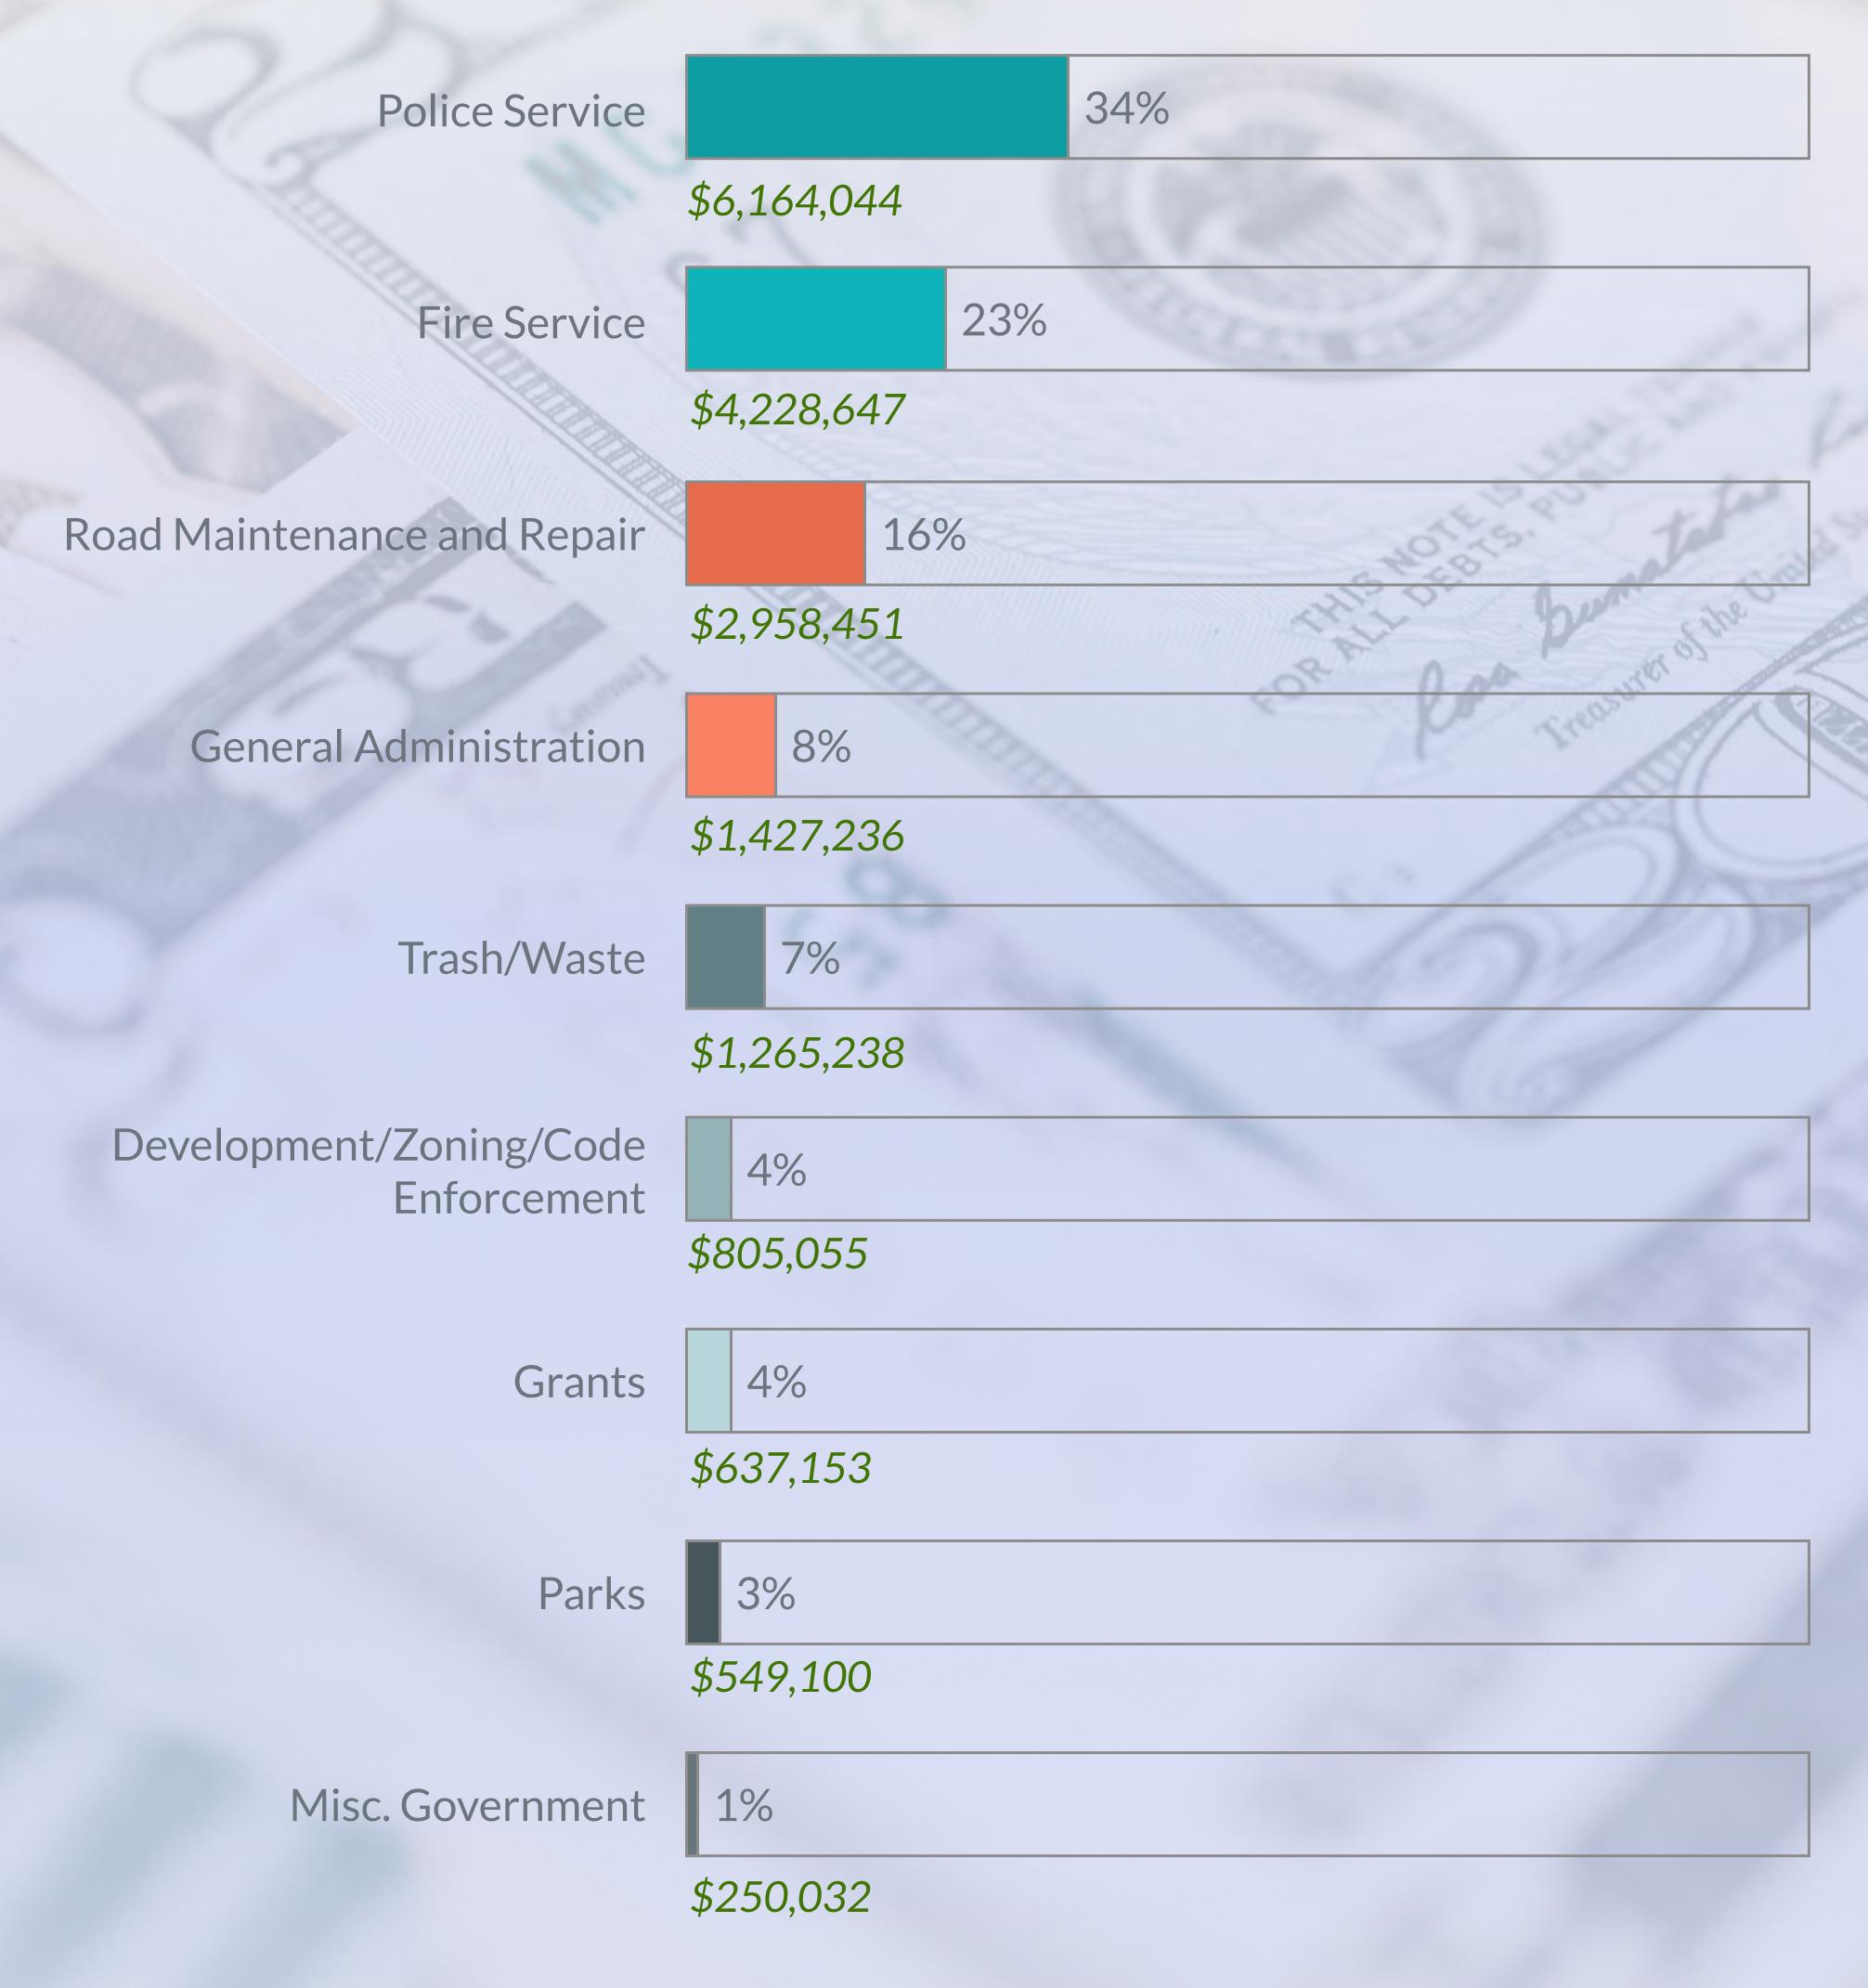

In Harrison Township, revenue generated from property taxes is generally used to fund local projects and services such as fire departments, law enforcement and schools, etc. See the graphic below to see what your property tax dollars pay for locally.

With these tax dollars, the township protects residents and property, provides road maintenance and offers a wide variety of quality-of-life features.

The 2021 total Harrison Township budget was $18,284,956. See the graphic below to see how that money is allocated in the township.
